PUBLIC INQUIRY BEGINS

By Interstate Commission Into Cause of Wreck On New Haven

CONG. W. A. ASHBROOK

Favors Congressional Inquiry Into Disaster and Blames Railroad for Poor Management and Equipment.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New Haven, Conn., Sept. 5.—At the opening of the federal investigation into the railroad wreck at North Haven, Commissioner McChord ordered General Manager Bardo of the New Haven railroad to produce the minutes of all meetings of the New Haven directors since the Bridgeport wreck on July 12, 1911. These would show, he said, what action had been taken "toward the betterment of safety conditions."

(Associated Press Telegram)
New Haven, Sept. 5.—With Engineer A. B. Miller and Flagman C. H. Murray under arrest and accused by Coroner Mix of criminal responsibility for the fatal North Haven wreck on the New Haven railroad last Tuesday morning, Commissioner McChord of the Interstate Commerce commission began a public investigation today to determine the cause of the disaster. Flagman Murray was still in jail this morning but it was announced the necessary $5,000 bail would be furnished by the New Haven road today. This was by order of President Howard Elliott of the railroad. Engineer Miller is a liberty under $5,000 bond, furnished by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Both Miller and Murray, whose stories as to the causes for the wreck do not agree, it is said, were called as witnesses today before Commissioner McChord.

The "private" investigation of the coroner, begun yesterday, and which lasted until midnight last night, culminating in the arrest of the two trainmen, was continued today again under police protection.

"I do not expect to finish with my witnesses until some time next week," said the coroner this morning. "Then my findings will be made public."

CONG. ASHBROOK DENOUNCES THE CAUSE OF WRECK

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Sept. 5.—Representative W. A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, O., jumped into the limelight by denouncing the New Haven railroad and intimating that he might ask for a Congressional investigation of the recent wreck.

Congressman Ashbrook was indignant over reports that Engineer Miller of the White Mountain express is being held prisoner by Coroner Mix of New Haven. In order to keep him from representatives of the Interstate Commerce commission. Mr. Ashbrook gave out the following statement:

"It looks to me like connivance between the railroad and Connecticut officials by keeping Miller from the rest of the world the railroad probably figures that it will get a statement from him that will palliate their latest crime against human life. I can understand that the railroad does not want him to tell his story. He probably has things to say that the officials do not want the public to know.

"That railroad ought to be prosecuted. Its management has been a flagrant series of manipulations. They have speculated without funds; they have neglected their rolling stock to speculate by taking over additional roads without sufficient funds to handle them.

"The public wants Miller's own story, not one in which he is acting as the mouthpiece for a much offending, over capitalized railway."

Mr. Ashbrook Makes Further Statement to the Advocate

Congressman Ashbrook, who is at his home in Johnstown for a few days, was called over the phone by the Advocate today for any further statement he might have to make.

Mr. Ashbrook stated that the New Haven railroad calamity was one that excited intense interest throughout the entire country. On the day he left Washington for his home members of Congress were formed in groups at the capitol discussing the terrible tragedy and the efforts of railroad officials to suppress facts and causes, and that he made the statements with emphasis that are given in the Washington dispatches.

In his talk to the Advocate today he reaffirmed his intention of demanding immediately on his return to Washington a Congressional investigation of the whole affair. This, he thinks, is the demand of the country, and that the matter should be probed to its fullest extent.

GHOULS ROB THE WRECK VICTIMS

(Associated Press Telegram)
New Haven, Conn., Sept. 5.—That there were wholesale and disgraceful robberies from dead bodies at the railroad wreck at North Haven on Tuesday morning is declared by Coroner Mix in a report today to Chief of Police Smith, requesting him to apprehend the culprits.

In today's investigation before the Interstate Commerce commission three witnesses testified that engineers of the New Haven railroad frequently pass danger signals of the "Banjo" type in foggy weather without stopping. It was further testified that the White Mountain express, the train which plunged into the Bar Harbor an hour before the North Haven disaster. This was at a point between Springfield and Hartford, where, according to the testimony of the engineer, the White Mountain train was flagged by C. H. Murray of the Bar Harbor train.

The two trains involved were the last of a procession of six which that morning passed Wallingford, three miles north of the wreck, within a period of 32 minutes. The White Mountain, last of the six, was making 52 miles an hour at Wallingford. (Continued on page 11, col. 4.)

BIG FEES FOR THE BALDWIN EXECUTORS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—As far as the courts are concerned, the finish was written today upon the estate of "Lucky" Baldwin, the famous turfman, built up from a race track "shoeing."

The huge land holdings which were debt-burdened when the turfman died five years ago, now have a value of more than $35,000,000 and for their work in successful administration the court awarded the executors, Henry A. Unruh, brother of Baldwin's first wife and Attorney Bradner W. Lee, fees of $180,000 each. Unruh and Lee fixed the fees themselves. If they had not, the court said, each would have been awarded $250,000.

The heirs are Baldwin's two daughters, Mrs. Clara Baldwin Stocker and Mrs. Anita Baldwin McClaughrey.

LAST CAUCUS ON THE TARIFF BILL OCCURRING TODAY

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Sept. 5.—Democrats of the Senate began early today what the administration leaders hoped would be the last caucus over the stumbling blocks in the tariff bill. Every possible effort was being made to rush odds and ends of the measure into place for a vote on the bill in the Senate by tomorrow night. The Senate waited until 2 p. m. while the Democrats were in session endeavoring to agree on an amendment to the income tax and to satisfy differences in their own ranks on minor points.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Tokio, Sept. 5.—An attempt was made today to assassinate Moritomo Abe, director of the political bureau of the Japanese foreign office. He was stabbed in the abdomen and is suffering from a severe wound.

Kansas City's new passenger station is to have a motion picture show to entertain persons waiting for trains.

Prominent Members of House Who Oppose the Currency Bill

Representative Hardwick of Georgia and Henry of Texas, two of the best known members of the House of Representatives, have refused to accept the suggestion of President Wilson that all Democrats there vote for the Owen-Glass currency bill. They will not have it in its present form, and there does not seem to be a chance for Leader Underwood to control them.

They have been backing up Representative Ragsdale, a new member and a banker, who has begun a fight on the measure. Whether or not they, with the senatorial opposition against the bill, will cause its defeat or radical change is an open question in Washington.

PROBLEMS FOR THE LICENSE COMMISSIONERS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Sept. 5.—Many perplexing problems are being encountered by the state liquor license commission which will be presented to the attorney general for opinions, but one of the most perplexing came to light today.

For two or three weeks, and especially for the last few days large numbers of retail saloons have been incorporating in the secretary of state's office.

As the new liquor license law specifically states that only one license can be granted to one firm or man, members of the state commission believe that the saloons are incorporating in order to get around this point of law through a technicality.

The expectations are that several men will incorporate a saloon company, designate a manager and apply for a license. Under a different name and incorporation, they might designate another manager, and apply for another license. Several applications for license might be made in this manner.

Whether the same crowd of men could secure more than one license through this technicality, is a matter which the state license commission probably will submit to the attorney general for an early opinion. Under the provisions of the license law, the state license commission had the authority to investigate the books of all corporations doing a saloon business.

Next week members of the state commission will place in the hands of all county license boards the names and addresses of saloon-keepers are difficult in their own towns. In any county the collection of such deficiencies will be placed in the hands of the prosecuting attorneys for collections. The total amount of delinquencies in the payment of the license tax is said to be in the neighborhood of $500,000. The board has made it plain that no saloonkeeper who is behind in his license tax payments will be granted a license under the new law.

LARGEST DIRIGIBLE EVER BUILT IN THE ZEPPELIN FACTORY

(Associated Press Telegram)
Berlin, Sept. 5.—Belief in aeronautic circles that a trans-Atlantic trip by airship is not impossible has been revived by the completion of Count Zeppelin's latest craft. Engineers at his factory in Friedrichshafen assert that the new marine dirigible which will make its first ascension next week will be the first airship really suitable for undertaking a crossing of the ocean although no such attempt has as yet been projected. The airship will be launched next week. It is 520 feet long and 54 feet in diameter, the largest Zeppelin craft yet built.

JEROME IS JAILED FOR GAMBLING

Pro-Thaw Outbreak Follows Arrest, Crowds Shouting, "Deport Jerome"

IS ADMITTED TO BAIL

After Spending An Hour in the Coaticook Jail—Thaw Hearing Resumed With Prisoner on the Stand.

JEROME CANNOT LEAVE COATICOOK.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Coaticook, Que., Sept. 5.—Prosecutor Hanson announced this afternoon that Mr. Jerome would be arrested at any time he attempted to leave Coaticook on the ground that he attempted wilfully to jump bail.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Coaticook, Sept. 5.—Harry K. Thaw was ordered deported by a special board of inquiry this afternoon but an immediate appeal was entered. Furthermore, a restraining order, granted by a judge at Montreal, prevented his removal from quarters here.

He was found deportable on two counts—first, having entered the Dominion by stealth; second, having been an inmate of an insane asylum within five years.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Montreal, Sept. 5.—Judge Gervais today issued a writ of habeas corpus, calling for the production of Harry K. Thaw in Montreal at once.

This statement was made this afternoon by the Montreal Herald which says it has learned on good authority that the writ was procured on Thaw's behalf by two members of his legal staff, J. N. Greenshields and N. B. LaFlamme. The ground taken, it is said, is that Thaw is not an immigrant in the true sense of the word.

The statement of the Herald lacks official confirmation. Should the writ be sustained, Thaw will be brought to Montreal, where his case will be heard before the court of appeals.

A special train, it is said, was held in readiness this afternoon to take Thaw's Montreal lawyers to Coaticook to serve the writ upon Thaw's custodians there.

Judge Gervais is on the court of King's bench.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Coaticook, N. B., Sept. 5.—William Travers Jerome, a Canadian, who was in the case of Harry K. Thaw today, for the first time since he was retained by New York State to bring about the fugitive slayer's return to Matamoras, was in jail. For nearly an hour he stood in a small cell in the Coaticook lock-up charged with gambling on railroad. (Continued on Page 12, Col. 3.)

LIFE IS SAVED BY LOOSE PULLEY

A loose pulley on a machine operated by Frank Stough, an employee at the Westinghouse plant, probably saved the life of a man Wednesday when his blouse caught on started him on a death whirl. He started him on a death whirl. He was thrown against his bench and the belt started from the pulley, stopping the machine, otherwise his death might have followed.

In the event, Stough suffered a double fracture of the jaw and severe cuts about the head and face. He was taken to the office of Dr. G. W. Sapp in Union street, where his injuries were dressed. He was later removed to his home.

DOCTORS HAVE GOT ABOUT ALL OF HIM.

Yuma, Ariz., Sept. 5.—Fred Maybury, 27, operated on 24 times in 10 years, was relieved, among other things, of a bad hand, eye, appendix and arm bone by the physicians.

A century or so there were in all Europe only 20 cities with more than 100,000 inhabitants.

William W. Atterbury, Vice President Pennsylvania R. R. and Strike Mediator

Spokesman for a system that employs 25,000 engineers and firemen, effected by the recently threatened tie-up of 54 railroads, W. W. Atterbury, a vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, is working assiduously to effect a common understanding between the railroads and their workmen. President Wilson named Mr. Atterbury as one of the arbitrators in the controversy between the railroads and the trainmen, involving 90,000 men, and the arbitrators have been conferring in New York. Mr. Atterbury is in the forefront of every big movement for the general welfare of the railroads. He was brought up in the atmosphere of railroad engineering and his colleagues point to him as an exponent of progressive and anticipatory industrial tactics.

Mexican Representative Is On Way to Washington to Continue the Negotiations

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Sept. 5.—Manuel de Zamacoena, Mexican ambassador to the United States and until recently financial agent for the Mexican government in London will endeavor to carry forward in Washington the negotiations between the Huerta administration and the United States for a solution of the revolutionary problem.

Senor Zamacoena comes primarily to continue the negotiations begun with John Lind but his ultimate object is to obtain for the Mexican government the loan which the United States declared in its second note it would encourage American bankers to float if the Huerta government accepted the chief American proposals. The administration here was sounded out as to the mission of Senor Zamacoena and had not yet given its answer when the latter started from Vera Cruz yesterday. There seems to be little doubt today in official circles that the Washington administration would receive Senor Zamacoena under certain conditions as he is well known here and regarded as one of the ablest of Mexicans.

FIRE MARSHALS ARE CONDUCTING INVESTIGATION

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, O., Sept. 5.—Deputies from the state fire marshal's office who have been after a band of Tuscarawas county firebugs, believe that they have discovered the answer to a series of mysterious Saturday night barn burnings. They have secured a confession from one of the men implicated. He declared that "a bunch of the boys" would meet together every Saturday night for a "keg party" at Newcomstown and that "along towards midnight" after the sun had properly set, they would diversify the evening's amusement by burning a barn or so.

State fire marshals secured the arrest of Truitt Haxley of Newcomstown, who is now in the New Philadelphia jail awaiting the grand jury on the charge of burning the barn of Byron Prater.

The burning of the Prater barn was one of a series of Saturday night barn burnings, the mysterious and similar origin of which led to the investigation.

It was announced that the fire marshal's office is conducting an investigation of similar mysterious fires in Muskingum, Coshocton and Holmes counties.

ISLAND IS SWEEPED BY BIG STORM

North Carolina Residents Believe Ocracoke Island Is Gone

A TOWN IS WIPED OUT

Worst Rain Storm in Ten Years is Reported From New York City—Raged Three Hours.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 5.—No lives were lost on Ocracoke Island in Wednesday's storm, according to advices reaching here from Hatteras this afternoon.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 5.—J. B. Blades of Newbern, one of the state's leading lumber mill men, just back from Washington, N. C., declared last night there is a feeling of certainty that Ocracoke Island, on the coast, had been swept in Wednesday's hurricane and not a living soul of the nearly 500 population of the island escaped. This belief was based on the high tide in Pamlico Sound and the ocean inundation.

Morehead City, Beaufort, Newbern, Washington, Bayboro, Bell Haven and dozens of small towns on the coast are reported as having great losses from the fury of the sale.

At Washington the water was waist deep in the street, two railroad bridges one a mile long, of the Norfolk Southern line, were washed away, docks, steamships, large warehouses, residences and a splendid building were destroyed and three people were reported drowned. In Newbern the water was several feet deep in the streets. A number of small vessels were sunk, public bridges destroyed, lumber mills badly damaged.

HEAVY DAMAGE IN NEW YORK CITY

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Sept. 5.—A midnight downpour of 3.31 inches of water caused extraordinary damage in New York city. The deluge was the worst in ten years, according to the weather bureau, and in its three hours duration it often gained the proportions of a cloudburst. Streams turned into rivers, some of them three or four feet deep, the water poured into many cellars, driving basement dwellers from their homes. Elevators were put out of commission in several hotels and guests had to climb many flights of stairs, following the electrical storm which accompanied the downpour of rain.

Subway tracks in places were covered by three feet of water and car traffic was almost at a standstill. Lights were put out in some of the trains and homeowners suffered fright when stalled in the darkness. Surface cars were put out of commission all over the city for a time by the torrents of water which poured into the underground trolley conduit, causing several short circuits.

It was 9 o'clock before the line was cleared and then the congestion prevented anything like normal conditions. The Interborough company loaded flat cars with electric pumps capable of discharging 770 gallons a minute and sucked the rain water out of the tube as fast as its men could work. The block at the Brooklyn terminus of the subway was the worst on the system. One hundred thousand persons use this station between 7 and 9 o'clock in the morning. One man hemmed in by the crowd told those around him that he was recently released from Sing Sing prison. That this was his first day on an honest job and that he probably would lose both the job and his chance of reformation if he failed to report on time for work this morning.

At several central stations the baffled subway users stormed the elevated trains in such numbers that police reserves were called out to make them keep in line and take their turns.

SUBWAY WAS PUT OUT OF BUSINESS BY HEAVY RAIN

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Sept. 5.—Not a wheel moved in the New York subway between Ninety-sixth street in upper Manhattan and the Brooklyn terminal during the rush hours of the work-bound crowds this morning, resulting in one of the worst congestions in traffic the city has ever known. Over three inches of rainfall during the night flooded the subway tracks to the depth of three feet or more, and nine miles of four-tracked subway were put entirely out of commission.

CENTRAL CHURCH AUDITORIUM HAS BEEN OVERHAULED

The auditorium of the Central Church of Christ has been so completely changed in appearance that it is almost impossible to recognize the place. The walls of the new addition, which was erected in 1904, had never been decorated, except that some red coloring matter had been mixed in the plaster.

The auditorium of this church is one of the most comfortable, inviting and commodious of any in the city, with a seating capacity of about 800 and more if chairs are used. The beauty of the place, however, has never been brought out before. All of the plaster surface above the basement, except the pastor's study, has been artistically decorated; the floor under the pews was stained and varnished and the pews cleaned and varnished.

All of the gas chandeliers have been removed and electric light fixtures installed. The roof was repaired and all outside wood work was painted. The hot air registers above the pulpit that have long been one of the causes of too much hot air from the pulpit, have been removed and placed in the floor, where they belong.

The members have a right to expect that henceforth the sermons will be more deliberate and practical and perhaps not quite so long. Cork linoleum has been placed in the aisles, and in about a week a beautiful velvet carpet will cover the pulpit and front of the audience room. The carpet has been delayed and will not arrive in time for Sunday, but rugs will be used to cover the bare space.

The beauty of the auditorium can not be adequately described, but needs to be seen to be appreciated. All of the regular church services will be held in it Sunday, September 7, beginning with the Bible school at 9:15 a. m. Every member of the church who is able to come is urged to be present at all of the services Sunday. All friends are cordially invited. Strangers will be made especially welcome.

TOWN WIPE OFF THE MAP.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 5.—Scenes of desolation mark virtually the entire North Carolina coast as the result of the hurricane which struck this section yesterday. Dispatches from coming over make-shift lines of communication indicate that the town of Belle Haven is wiped off the map while the town of Washington, N. C., not only suffered from the wind, but also lost heavily by floods. The loss in Beaufort county, in which Washington is situated, alone will exceed $2,000,000, it is estimated tonight.

Bridges were swept away by the high waters and the wind at Washington, where buildings crumbled under the fury of the blast, as they did at Morehead City, Oriental, Bayboro and a number of smaller towns. At Newbern several streets were inundated and the thoroughfares were lined with debris. The damage in that city alone probably will exceed $500,000.

To add to the terror of the citizens, fire broke out during the tempest and was controlled with difficulty. Two railroad bridges, one of them a mile long, were swept away. In Aurora, 15 houses were destroyed, while at Vandalia the damage was heavy, one firm alone declaring its loss to be at least $10,000. In this city more than 200 cattle and hogs were drowned and tonight their carcasses are lying in the streets, a serious menace to the public health.

Throughout eastern North Carolina growing crops are virtually a total loss and no estimate of the devastating effect of the wind and rain can be made tonight. It is believed, however, to be incalculable.

NO NEWS FROM THE SEA.

Beaufort, N. C., Sept. 5.—The storm which swept along the North Carolina coast wrought havoc in this vicinity. Mail boats from Core Sound reported that all wharves for a distance of 25 miles had been destroyed, several houses blown down and hundreds of cattle and horses drowned. No lives were reported lost. Many small craft in Beaufort harbor capsized or were smashed against wharves of the breakwater. There has been no news from the sea, the wireless station being out of commission.

RESCUED BY LIFE SAVERS.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 5.—Driven ashore by the terrific storm which swept the Virginia and Carolina coast, the six-masted schooner, George W. Wells, is a total wreck off the coast of Hatteras. Twenty men, two women and two babies were rescued by the life savers. Only meager details of the rescue were received here, but it is reported the most thrilling in years.

HEAVY RAIN AT DULUTH.

Duluth, Sept. 5.—The heaviest rainstorm in the history of the local weather bureau occurred yesterday. The official gauge showed a fall of 1.22 inches, being .06 more than during the entire month of August.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE REPORTED

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 5.—With reported depredations from Wednesday's hurricane over Eastern North Carolina already involving property damage running into the millions and heavy loss of life, today's meagre dispatches from the stricken district told additional stories of the storm's havoc. Many small towns along the coast reported severe damage from wind and heavy rainfall. Several were flooded by swollen streams.

No confirmation was obtainable early today of the reported loss of 500 lives at Ocracoke Island, off the Carolina coast. Unsubstantiated rumors continued to be current today that all inhabitants of the islands had perished when heavy waves swept their homes Wednesday. Efforts to reach even the coast towns near Ocracoke failed, wires being down over the adjacent section and wireless stations presumably wrecked by the storm, irresponsive to their calls.

Delayed messages from Washington, Newbern and other towns near the coast told of floods that surpassed all previous records. Every stream in the storm-swept section was swollen by the torrential rains and incalculable damage to crops is expected to result. Many bridges have been swept away.

WIRES ARE DOWN.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Norfolk, Va., Sept. 5.—With the telegraph wires still down, it was impossible today to get detailed information of the havoc wrought by Wednesday's storm on the North Carolina coast between Cape Hatteras and Ocracoke on the lower cape. The six-masted schooner, George W. Wells, which went ashore south of Hatteras, has gone to pieces. The twenty men, two women and two infants rescued from the schooner Wells after great difficulty by the life savers, are being temporarily cared for in the vicinity of the Ocracoke inlet life saving station.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Look young! Nobody can tell if you use Grandmother's simple recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

BADLY INJURED IN A COLLISION OF BICYCLES

William Wentzel was thrown to the ground and his head badly cut Thursday night in a bicycle collision. The accident happened after night and Wentzel did not recognize the man who collided with him.

About 5 o'clock Thursday night, Wentzel was passing the Five Point grocery, on the corner of Granville and Locust, and in the dark ran into a bicyclist going in the opposite direction. Wentzel was thrown violently from his wheel and received painful cuts and bruises about the head. The man who ran into him was knocked down, but escaped injury. Dr. Shirer attended the injured man.

CASES FOR THE CONSIDERATION OF GRAND JURY

Number Will Be Submitted When It Convenes Monday, News of the Licking County Courts.

Among important cases to come before the grand jury which convenes Monday, is the charge of bigamy lodged against Jan. Parker by Anna Parker.

The case, advanced to common pleas court on transcript from Magistrate G. W. Horton, is based on the allegation of Anna Parker, formerly Anna Adkins, that she married her husband, Jan. Parker, on April 17, this year, and that Lena E. Hackley, still living and divorced from the accused, Parker, is held in $500 bond.

Other new cases submitted on transcript are those against Lillie Williams, alias Lullie Williams, accused of slander, and against Jane and Charles Garrison of St. Albans township, accused of causing the death of a cow belonging to Adam Drake.

Carries Case Up.

Bond was filed Friday with notice of removal of the $50,000 damage suit of George Gasparis against the B. and O. Railroad company to the United States district court of the southern district of Ohio, in Cincinnati.

Gasparis was a section hand employed in laying a side track near Union station on July 21, when, it is alleged, he was struck by a train, resulting in amputation of his right leg, a sprained back and crushed chest. He alleges the injury will make him a cripple for life. He is 36 years old and says that previous to his injury he was able to earn $2.50 per day.

Jones & Jones are attorneys for the plaintiff and the railroad company is represented by Attorneys F. A. Durban, Robert J. King and Kibler & Kibler of Newark.

Gasparis alleges carelessness on the part of the B. and O.

Required $15,000 Bond.

Assignment of personal property and real estate of Sylvester Cummins to W. I. Gutridge was approved by Probate Judge Robbins Hunter Friday. The assignment follows prolonged litigation in connection with a somewhat sensational divorce and alimony suit in which the assignor recently figured.

Personal property involved is estimated in the application at a value of $500, while real estate is fixed at $7,000. A bond of $15,000 was required from the assignee.

The property involved is a lot in the Mt. Pleasant addition to Newark and two parcels of 100 and 16 acres, respectively, in Franklin township.

Uncle Walt's Philosophy

Long Ago.

Where are the gents who were raking the muck, long, long ago, eating in filth an occasional buck, long, long ago? Where are the gifted, but famous clowns, robbing our angels of harps and of crowns, writing up tales of "The Shame of the Towns," long, long ago, long ago? Do you remember the fool magazines, long, long ago, wading in mud to the top of their jeans, long, long ago? Do you remember the course that they trod, proving the world was deserted by God, showing up man as a faker and a fraud, long, long ago? Knew you the muckers and the sicks, long, long ago, doing their stunts in the dirtiest ditch, long, long ago? Where are they now, and what have they done? Where are the triumphs they thought they had won? Where are the crusades so lightly begun long, long ago; they were too fool to be cleaned at the pump, long, long ago; now we are preaching a different creed, holding that some men are not monsters of greed; most of us heard all the howls that we need long, long ago, long ago.

The Human Procession

Uncle Sam's new ambassador to the court of Yoshihito, George Wilkins Guthrie of Pittsburgh, will celebrate his sixty-fifth birthday today in Japan. Owing to the frequent embroglios between the American republic and the Oriental monarch, the Japanese post is considered one of the most difficult and important in the United States diplomatic service. For a time, it is understood, President Wilson considered the appointment of Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, who was appointed minister to China in 1909, but resigned before assuming his official duties as a result of alleged undiplomatic utterances. Eventually the choice fell upon Mr. Guthrie as the man best fitted to look after United States interests in Tokio.

Mr. Guthrie was born in Pittsburgh, on September 3, 1849, and was educated at the Western University of Pennsylvania and Columbian (now George Washington) University. He was admitted to the bar and began practice in his native city in 1874. His connection with politics dates from his admission to the bar. He was one of the counsel for the Tilden electors before the Florida returning board in 1876. In 1890 he ran for mayor of Pittsburgh, heading the Citizens Municipal League ticket in a reform campaign and in 1902 he was the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania. From 1906 to 1909 he was mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, and his successive administration of affairs made him a national figure.

President Wilson and Mr. Guthrie have long been personal friends, and from the creation of the former it was understood that the Pittsburgh man would be given an ambassadorship. In 1914, after the California business controversy, came up it was considered best to shut him to Tokio, Ambassador Guthrie has long been a student of international law, and his familiarity with the various foreign forces of the world makes him well qualified to fill the important and delicate post he has undertaken. Mr. Guthrie was chairman of the Pennsylvania State committee until his appointment to Tokyo.

Joseph Burleson Bishop, for eight years the secretary of the Isthmian Canal Commission and long prominent in New York journalism, was born in New Orleans, Mass., now East Providence, R. I., sixty-six years ago today. After graduating from Brown University in 1870 he joined the editorial staff of the New York Tribune, remaining with that paper thirteen years. He was editorial writer for the New York Evening Post the next seven years, and chief editorial writer of the New York Globe from 1900 until his appointment as secretary of the canal commission in September, 1905. He has written a number of books on political and economic topics, including "Cheap Money Experiments" and "Issues of a New Epoch."

Wisdom from Washington

Washington, D. C., Sept. 4.—The agricultural department has determined to no longer be its light under a bushel. The department has a publicity man on the job who knows his business, or at least he puts out everything that can be of any interest to the public concerning what the department is doing. The assistant secretary, B. T. Galloway, has a regular weekly news letter which is in the nature of a small weekly paper and contains much information regarding crop conditions.

There is also an effort to correct the impression of the bureau of pure food law went in Dr. Wiley resigning day announcing that prosecutions under the law are numerous and successful.

"Advertising culture" the new method might be the fact that the department is doing his newspaper men.

They Are Still Hungry.

While there are hanging around the department a few months ago, Poston realizes that the hunger in the capital is not so many men as departments ask there were a few months ago. Poston is still an office hungry when he goes to the capital and ask about post-offices in their district. As a former member of Congress Burleson is personally known to nearly every member and most of them familiarly call him Albert.

The late John L. Wilson of Washington while a member of the house was twitted with an ambition for the senate, "I am one of you in the same boat," declared Wilson, the number of members being then 30.

It would seem that every member of the house is anxious for a seat in the senate and will accept opportunity offers he comes a candidate. Three men from Alabama in the house aspire to the vacancy in the senate, and there may be a fourth if Underwood decides to enter the race. It is natural that a man should seek a six year term instead of one of two years; also there is greater prestige in being a senator than holding even a high place in the house.

Political "Facts."

During a discussion of the wool schedule a Republican senator raised a question as to whether a certain statement was a fact, and Senator Pomerene of Ohio broke in with this observation, "It seems to me that on the Democratic side of the chamber we must remember that when a fact does not sustain the protective theory it ceases to be a fact." And everybody enjoyed the sarcasm at the expense of the Republicans.

In the discussion of the proposed investigation or impeachment of Judge Speer of Georgia several references were made to the recall of judges. Congressman Bartlett of Georgia declared that unless the acts of every judge were open and above board and every opportunity given for the investigation of charges against a judge on the bench there would be a demand for the recall of judges, which could not be resisted. Only by turning on the light in all such cases could confidence be restored regarding the judiciary, was the idea of several men who talked on the subject.

The President's Part.

The often discussed method of making the tariff bill came up in the senate during a colloquy between Norris of Nebraska and Williams of Mississippi. Norris was criticizing the framing of the bill by the Democratic caucus.

"The senator never knew a Republican bill framed by a secret caucus," said Williams. "I doubt if he ever knew of a Republican bill that was not framed outside of congress."

"I doubt whether this bill was framed outside of the White House," retorted Norris.

"The president has taken no part in framing this bill except in connection with two items," declared Williams.

"Those were the crux of the bill," replied Norris, "and the president had more to do with framing the bill than any one else, and the caucus obeyed his will."

All Prisoners Possess Some Good

By the Rev. J. D. BOTKIN, Warden of the Kansas State Penitentiary

REGARD every man, in prison or out, as my brother, although I find that some of my brothers are instinctive criminals and have to be restrained.

SOME ARE MADE CRIMINALS BY ENVIRONMENT; SOME ARE IN PRISON BECAUSE OF SOME SUDDEN AND VIOLENT TEMPTATION. ALL POSSESS SOME GOOD AND SHOULD BE TREATED HUMANELY.

The notion that a penitentiary is a place to wreak vengeance upon the criminal is REPUGNANT TO THE SENTIMENT OF OUR TIMES. The modern and humane thought is that punishment for crime consists of depriving the criminal of liberty and requiring him to perform useful labor. The fundamental purpose of it all is REFORMATION.

It is my theory that NO MAN CAN BE REFORMED IN IDLENESS and that no man after reformation can make good in idleness. The effort is to keep all these men BUSY AT SOME EMPLOYMENT. Few busy men are criminals. They have neither the time nor the inclination. I believe in the work habit.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Billy Gave the Children A Fright

A Brown Bulldog Raced Up.

SCHOOL had opened, and Jack and Evelyn were both devoted to it. "I hope you will like it as well at the end of the term as you do now," daddy said.

"Of course we shall," the children replied, much surprised.

"Last year was little Jane's first year at school," daddy went on. "She was in the kindergarten class, and Antony used to take her hand every morning and lead her to school, which was only two blocks away."

"There were two crossings to get over, and they had to watch very carefully to make sure that no automobiles or carts driven by reckless butchers or grocers' boys were coming."

"When Antony reached the door of Jane's room he always left her with an uneasy feeling, for he was a shy little boy, and his first year in school had been very dreadful for him."

"But Jane was not afraid of strange people, and she soon was quite friendly with all the children in her room. Her little voice was the gayest in the little songs they sang and her tiny feet the liveliest in the games they played."

"Antony was glad—very glad—that she liked it all, for he shared everything with Jane, and he wished to share school. Why, did they not have even the measles and the whooping cough at the same time?"

"It was not very long until Jane chose a little friend from among the little girls in the kindergarten. The little girl lived near them, so they often walked home from the kindergarten together."

"But it is of the first day they went home together I must tell you. They were walking along, talking quietly of their school, when Antony's heart stood still. A big brown bulldog was racing toward them as fast as it could come, with eyes glistening and mouth open."

"Jane and Antony had no dog at home and knew nothing about doggies except that the little boy remembered having heard his mamma and his grandma talking of a mad dog that had bitten a child in the city."

"And Antony, looking at the bulldog racing straight for them, gasped with fear. Here was a mad dog coming to bite them. What should he do? There was no place to run, and as quickly as he could he threw his arms around Jane and pushed her against the wall to shield her from the dog."

"The little girl friend laughed, and when Antony looked around she was patting the dog on the head."

"Dear old Billy," she said, "he comes to meet me every day."

"And Antony was so mortified that no one would have heard about it if Jane had not told her mamma."

Miss Ethel Southard was hostess Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower at her home in Flory avenue in honor of Miss Hazel MacMullen. The evening was spent in sewing, after which a delicious luncheon was served. Many useful and pretty gifts were "showered" upon the bride.

Miss Southard's guests were: The Misses Hazel MacMullen, Emma Kammmerer, Lillian Kammmerer, Helen Redman, Amy Alajsch, Dot Woodward, Mary Bonar, Bess Taafel, Helen Pigg, Hazel Lippincott, Florence Meyer, Mary Louise Rank, Frances Stevens, Hazel Southard, Catherine Sachs, and Mrs. T. J. Coster of Lowell, Mass.

The Mitchell Sunday school class held a picnic at Black Hand Rock Thursday afternoon and evening. The afternoon was spent in baseball and other games. At 5:30 a bountiful supper was served, consisting of roasted corn, hot weiners, beans, pickles, bananas and lemonade. At 7:30 all boarded the car for Newark, tired, but claiming the afternoon had been well spent.

Those members who enjoyed the outing were: Mesdames A. S. Mitchell, Tenney Reese, Prof. Moniger, R. F. Anthony, Prof. Bowers, Misses Clara Baggett, Lillian Mehl, Lillian Larson, Nellie Baker, Rachel Rhodes, "Mabel" Hanks, Adah Fletcher, Kate Brooks, Elizabeth Robinson, Ruth Hirst, Edith Nulton, Edna Hirst, Estella Martin, Olive Kinsey, Chloe Sharrett, Messrs. Harley Hughes, A. T. Carr, Jay Border, McElwee, Earle Stevens, Melville Rank, Ray Mitchell, Herbert Gregg, Fred Allison, Brady Baggett, Fred Glenn, H. J. Dickerson.

CLAGGETT-ANDERSON.
Rt. W. D. Ward invited in marriage Thursday evening at his home 27 Lowest street, Miss Clara Bell Anderson and Mr. Roland D. Claggett of near Clay Lick. They were attended by Miss Viola Claggett, sister of the groom. They will make their home in Newark. Mr. Claggett being employed at the Wehrle company.

An enjoyable surprise was perpetrated on Mrs. Edward Ports of West Church street Thursday evening when about fifty of her neighbors and friends "dropped" in on her for a little visit. Mrs. Ports had forgotten that the day was the occasion of her natal anniversary but her friends had not and when she opened the door on the laughing jolly crowd congregated in the front yard she did not know what to make of it at first, until the fact dawned upon her that she had reached another milestone in life's journey. Recovering her composure Mrs. Ports invited the "surprisers" into the house and soon made everyone feel at home. Music and dancing were the festivities which made the evening pass all too quickly. An elegant collation was served and the guests departed at a late hour, wishing the hostess many happy returns of the day.

Mr. George N. Dodson of North Fifth street was the object of a pleasant surprise party when a number of rural mail carriers dropped in unexpectedly at his home and spent the evening with him. Mr. Dodson is the efficient mail carrier on Route 4 and is now enjoying a four weeks' vacation.

In order to make Mr. Dodson's vacation more enjoyable a number of his brother mail carriers planned the surprise party for him. Refreshments were served during the evening. Those who spent the pleasant evening with Mr. Dodson were: Mr. Irwin, Route 1; Mr. James, Route 2; Mr. Lake, Route 3; Mr. Boner, Route 5; Mr. Richards, Route 8, and Mr. Nichols, Route 7.

CONSERVATION OF BABIES' LIVES IS A GREAT PROBLEM

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Sept. 5.—Some startling and interesting figures relative to babies were given Friday morning by Dr. E. F. McCampbell, executive secretary of the state board of health who was one of the three final judges in the state fair baby show, in commenting on the awards.

The other two final judges were Dr. Lucy Pine of Washington Court House and Dr. H. J. Upham of Columbus, president-elect of the Ohio State University.

"Columbus is confronted with a grave condition in the decreasing birth rate," Dr. McCampbell said. "Of the 15,000,000 children born this year, 300,000 will die before they are one year old, because of the ignorance of their parents in feeding and caring for them. A baby dies every ten seconds in the civilized world and between fifty and sixty in Ohio every day, and half of these Ohio deaths are preventable."

"Economists tell us that a baby is worth in dollars and cents $1,700 a piece, so that the daily loss in Ohio is $85,000, half of which is preventable. Figure it out and you will find that ignorance of the care of infants costs the state of Ohio $15,000,000 annually—in the value of infants' lives that could have been saved."

Declaring that the conservation of these lives is one of the chief problems of the state, Dr. McCampbell continued:

"It is only logical to demand that as much attention be paid to raising our children along right lines as to raising our hogs, sheep, cattle and horses. Ohio spends $200,000 in fighting hog cholera. Then why shouldn't the legislature appropriate sufficient money to curb preventable diseases in this state?" Last year in Ohio, they caused a loss of 27,500 lives in Ohio, and an economic loss to the state of approximately $100,000,000.

"Are our hogs, and our sheep and our cattle more important than our babies and our citizens generally?" Better babies' contests, public health exhibits, public lectures, magazines and newspapers were recommended as the best means of educating the people in ways of right living, so that the preventable disease loss can be reduced.

A PERSONAL LETTER.

Mrs. Greve Writes to Those Who Suffer from Eczema.

"I want others who suffer from skin troubles to know that there is no other equal to Saxo Salve. I had a terrible trouble with my hands. It was like a burn in appearance but it itched and smarted dreadfully. My doctor called it eczema. The first application of Saxo Salve relieved them and soon cured them entirely and for cracks in the fingers Saxo Salve does wonders."—Mrs. W. C. Greve, Binghamton, N. Y.

Letters like the above are continually coming in proving that the penetrating antiseptic and healing power of Saxo Salve is remarkable in all kinds of eczema, salt-rheum, tetter, barber's itch or any skin affection.

TO INVESTIGATE SHOOTING OF THE JAP SUBJECTS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Tokio, Sept. 5.—The Japanese premier, Count Gombei Yamamoto, left for Nikko today to report to the emperor of Japan on the shooting of a number of Japanese subjects during the fighting between the Chinese government troops and the southern rebels in Nanking. In his conference with his majesty, the premier will decide as to the course of action to be taken by the Japanese government in the matter. Public feeling in Japan is at fever point. Some of the newspapers demand military action and urge the occupation of a Chinese seaport by the Japanese until full reparation has been made by China.

FULTON-SPEAKS RECITAL.

Mr. Oley Speaks, baritone and song writer, has appeared with many of the prominent clubs and colleges in the country. Among them the Lansing, Mich., May Festival; Yonkers, N. Y., Choral society; Plainfield, N. J., Oratorio society; Musical Teachers' National convention, Vassar college, Ohio Wesleyan University, Denison University, Columbus Oratorio society, Rubinstein club, New York city (5 engagements); Oberlin college (2 engagements); Lima city, Orange, N. Y., Choral society, vicariously good. —Charleston (W. Va.) Mail.

Mr. Speaks is equally successful in oratorio and recital work. His recital program embrace the classic, German, French and Italian songs and the modern English.

The honor of the evening belong to the singer-composer, Oley Speaks. Mr. Speaks is by all odds the most finished baritone that has appeared in Windsor hall. His voice is of great compass and lucidity and his tone placement most perfect. —Brooklyn (N. Y.) Eagle.

Mr. Speaks sang with good taste bringing out the almost continuous sustained movements with round full tones that gave evidence of excellent breath control. —New York Sun.

His voice is strong and smooth, flexible, but steady. He answered every demand made on it from first to last. How well he has studied is evident from the correctness of his phrasing, his admirable enunciation and the continuity which diffused the true notes. His program was rich on notes and in its arrangement a work of art. —Columbus (O.) Inquirer.

Mr. Oley Speaks, a baritone and composer, gave an admirable recital this morning. His program was varied from "Hear Me" by Haendel to "Because" by Gay and each selection was received with warm applause and appreciation. —Lansing (Mich.) Journal.

After the applause through the splendid rendition of "Soubrette" particularly. —Lansing (Mich.) Journal.

ANNUAL MESSAGE
PROBABLY BRIEF

President May Read Only His Own Views on Affairs.

NO DEPARTMENTAL DATA.

None of the Large States Now Represented on Finance Committee, Owing, in Part, to Abrogation of Old Seniority Rule—May Raise Rank of Spanish Minister to Ambassador.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—If the president keeps up the practice of reading his messages to congress he will have to curtail the annual message at the beginning of the regular session. Those ponderous documents of 30,000 to 50,000 words, reviewing the doings of the federal government for a year, brimming with statistics about departmental matters, could scarcely be read by any one man. The clerks in both senate and house "spell" each other on a presidential message. Some of those long ones would take more than two hours.

No doubt the president, if he continues the custom, will make his messages conform to what he writes himself and not include all the data and reviews of departmental doings which cabinet officers usually furnish to pad out the annual report of the president, for it becomes nothing more on most occasions.

Want More Posts.

Secretary Garrison has been in favor of abandoning many of the military posts. He has been making a tour of different posts throughout the west, and it is interesting to note that every place where there is a post is openly and earnestly in favor of having that post enlarged, while a dozen or more places where no posts now exist are candidates for new posts. A military post near a town means more federal money, and of course the people are trying to get all they can along that line. Secretary Garrison seems to have added to his burdens in the matter of military posts.

Mann Keeps Control.

To a few of his personal friends Minority Leader Mann has complained that he does not get assistance from his fellow Republicans in such a way as to relieve him of any of the responsibility of his position. But it is doubtful whether Mann wants much assistance.

It is quite noticeable that he takes charge of matters which would naturally fall to the ranking Republican minority members of the different committees. And sometimes he overrules those minority members.

Mann is the real "boss" of his party in the house. John Sharp Williams, when minority leader, was also dominant in all affairs on the Democratic side.

Farmers Are Needed.

Congressman Burnett of Alabama, commenting on the tangle which has arisen in his state over the senatorial vacancy, says that it shows how careless were the lawyers of congress in writing a constitutional amendment which they cannot interpret.

"It reminds me," said Burnett, "of an old farmer in Alabama who announced that they were going to send farmers to the legislature hereafter instead of lawyers so that laws could be framed which people could understand."

Small States Represented.

Four small western states are represented on the finance committee which has charge of the tariff bill. They are Colorado, Utah, Wyoming and North Dakota.

It is true that three of these are Republicans and have not had much to say about making the present bill, but they are there just the same. Of the big states neither New York, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Texas, Iowa nor Minnesota are represented, nor is any part of the Pacific coast.

On the Republican side the unbroken rule of seniority prevents new men from getting on that committee and senators old in service get the places. The Democrats have broken that rule and many new senators are serving on the committee.

McAdoo Didn't Go In.

Secretary McAdoo, who had a great deal to do with the currency bill and drafted some provisions which many members did not like, was at a committee room of the house one day when the Democrats were in caucus on the currency bill.

"If you will step in there," said one of his friends to the treasury head, "you will hear something to your disadvantage."

"That's just why I am not going in," declared McAdoo. "I hear enough of that kind of talk without going after more."

Proof Positive.

Congressman Helm of Kentucky, speaking of the McDonald case from Michigan, said: "I can demonstrate in one minute that McDonald was elected. The election was held. The Democratic candidate does not claim that he was elected. The Republican candidate says he was not elected. McDonald has proved that he was elected, and he is entitled to the seat."

And no one could gainsay his reasoning.

Jack-of chimneys made Roman kitchens sooty.

THE FORWARD-LOOKING WOMAN

versus
THE FIRESIDE WOMAN
By Barbara Boyd

The Game of Life

THE Forward-looking Woman came in, her eyes sparkling, her cheeks pink, her whole being radiating energy and optimism.
"It's great," she said, "to take part in the game of life."
"You get some bruises," observed the Fireside Woman.
"Perhaps," shrugged the other. "But you learn not to cry because of a scratch. And that's worth while. Women don't snifle over every little disappointment as they used to do. But the greatest joy of all is being in the game, not being merely a looker-on."
"I don't know," objected the Fireside Woman. "When you look back over the past and think of the magnificent audience woman has made as a looker-on, it is something to be proud of. Beautiful and jeweled and richly appraised, she has, through all the ages, lent color and loveliness to life. When she gets down into the game, I am afraid something inspiring will be missing."
"Not the right sort of inspiration," returned the Forward-looking Woman, earnestly. "The boxes and benches may be empty of velvet and faces and jewels, but the arena itself will be more interesting, and the inspiration for the game will be ringing in the heart of every participant."
"In the first place," went on the Forward-looking Woman brightly. "It is better for the woman herself, to take part than to be merely a dressed-up doll looking on. It develops her muscles, her intelligence, her best emotions. When she takes an active part in the world's affairs, her body develops, her mind develops, her spirit develops. Every object and every person with which she comes in contact wakens her up in a new way. She becomes a new person,—wide awake, interested, alert, responsive. It's a glorious awakening for her."
"To me, it is more like a scrimmage, in which she'll lose much of her refinement and charm."
"Not necessarily. The only woman who will lose her womanliness is the one who is not truly womanly, just as the man who loses his manliness under pressure is the one who is not truly manly. Womanliness is not a matter of occupation. It is a matter of creation. She can't any more lose it than she can lose her flesh and bones."
The Fireside Woman picked up her novel. "I think I prefer to be a looker-on," she said.
"You wouldn't," replied the other, "if you once got into the game and knew the pleasure of taking part. As for me, instead of gazing back over the past to the women in fine apparel, smiling and applauding, I prefer looking forward into the future, where every woman, bright and eager, has her place in the game; where she spends her day playing her part, earnestly and thoroughly and usefully; and where she comes home each night with her share of the gains; where her body knows the bounding health that comes from good, energetic work, her mind, the keen joy of thinking and planning, and her soul, the satisfaction of doing her share in the world's activities. The game of life is a glorious game, and it is a privilege to take part. We are getting the vision that sees farther and more clearly than the old viewpoint of considering it a privilege to 'look on.'"

GRANVILLE MAN INVENTOR OF A "MAN'S AIR GUN"

A gun which will kill a rabbit at fifty yards or pick a squirrel out of the tallest tree with ammunition that costs almost nothing and yet makes no noise or smoke about it is the invention of a Granville man, Dr. E. P. Cook. It is called by its inventor "a man's air gun, but this modest title scarcely does justice to the remarkable ingenuity of the separate parts of the little weapon.

About two years ago Dr. Cook's attention was called by a magazine article to the fact that no air gun of any power had yet been placed upon the market which was of neat size and construction and at the same time serviceable for shooting at any distance. Being of an inventive turn, he made a study of the patterns then existing and in the spring of 1912 had made plans for the new gun, which was patented in November last year.

An air gun of the power of a .22 calibre rifle is not an innovation. The chief difficulty with previous makes is that they are cumbersome, the chambers for the compression of the air being ill adapted for a rifle of standard proportions. Dr. Cook's new rifle when manufactured according to his specifications will look just like a "sure enough rifle" and will have the same power.

The unique features of the weapon is the movable air chamber. The lever is loaded by pulling down on a lever which fits beneath the barrel. While this action is compressing the air to give the power, the air chamber itself slides backward and allows the marksman to insert the bullet in the rear opening of the barrel in front of the air chamber. When the gun is closed the chamber takes its normal position. The release is effected instantaneously by means of an improved trigger.

The advantages of this new rifle are many. The only expense in hunting with such a gun is the cost of the lead bullets which is very little. In a short time the cost of the rifle will be made up in saving of ammunition expenses. For target practice the possibilities are unlimited. Models may be made after the style of any fire-arm largely in use so that practice which will make one perfect in handling a powerful fire-arm can be had with this air gun at almost no cost at all.

Dr. Cook has recently received a model manufactured in Germany after his specifications and in actual practice the gun has proved its power and accuracy. The invention has lately been taken up in the leading sportsmen's magazines and has been highly complimented. He is now making arrangements to place it with a large manufacturing concern with the assurance from well known sportsmen that it will at least go into wide use in flying target practice. The noiseless and smokeless features of the air gun make it desirable in cities and towns. In public schools training in the use of firearms has been opposed because of the danger connected with the practice. With this rifle the only danger is in getting squarely in front of the gun. Then there are no greasy cartridges to be handled, no dirty guns to be cleaned and no powder to get wet and refuse to ignite at a critical moment in the hunt.

The ordinary .22 calibre rifle projects a bullet with a velocity of 800 feet per second. The model already made of the new invention gives a velocity of 600 feet per second and can easily be made to exceed that by two or three hundred feet. The rifle will probably sell at $10 to $15.

"Every Fact is a Solemn Thing; It is the Voice of Truth in Nature"
—Emerson.

And we bring a new and portentous fact. Nature has decreed that Pteric and Citric acids combined in test tube will coagulate and determine the presence and amount of another of her products, viz., albumen.

Thus when albumen is disappearing in a case of Bright's Disease, Nature's agents will establish the fact.

Hence the curability of Bright's Disease by Fulton's Renal Compound is not a question but a fact in Nature that any open minded scientist can prove who cares to take the time.

But like all of Nature's processes, it is deliberate. Hence it should be invoked before the patient is in crisis. Even food can be taken to a starving man too late.

The heart and tonic treatment given by physicians in this disease does not conflict with the Renal Compound—the motive of which is to prevent the escape of albumen—the reaction necessary to recovery.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at F. D. Hall, druggist.

Ask for pamphlet on our investigation into the curability of Bright's Disease or write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.

LAST DAY FOR FILING THE PETITIONS

Friday, Sept. 5th is the last day on which petitions nominating candidates for offices throughout the county can be filed with Clerk Michael Sachs of the Board of Elections. In many of the small towns in the county, but few of the offices have candidates in the field.

In several of the townships, an effort is being made to nominate a non-partisan ticket, especially where the vote is light. In the larger towns, the scarcity of candidates is partially explained by the fact that many are holding their petitions back to the last possible moment.

Unless many of these petitions are filed yet this afternoon, several of these towns will be without contests for some of the important offices. In only a few villages is an attempt being made to line up party tickets by the petition method.

First Things

The first distinctly and exclusively commercial newspaper in America was founded in Boston 113 years ago today, under the title of "The Boston Prices-Current and Marine Intelligence, Commercial and Mercantile." This publication was the father of the extensive trade press which has played so important a part in the development of American business and commerce. The first commercial newspaper in England were Lloyd's List, founded in 1726, and the London Public Ledger, which was established in 1759. The first commercial journal in New York, and the oldest of the American journals of this class now published, is the New York Daily Commercial, founded in 1795. The specialized trade press is of comparatively recent growth and has reached its full flower on this side of the Atlantic. Every business and trade now has its weekly and monthly publications, and the more important industries support daily papers.

Today in Pugilistic Annals

1894—Jack Dempsey and "Australian Billy" McCarthy fought a 20-round draw at New Orleans. The "Nonpareil," deprived of the middleweight title by Fitzsimmons, broken in spirit and with the ravages of consumption already manifesting themselves in shrunken face and emaciated body, was a pitiful spectacle, but he fought so ferociously and used his little remaining strength to such an advantage that he earned a draw. In the eighteenth round the Australian tried the pivot blow, but Dempsey, always in deadly fear of that punch since LaBlanche had knocked him out with it, was on the alert and it did not connect. In a previous bout at San Francisco in 1890 Dempsey defeated the Australian by a knockout in the twenty-eighth round.

1910—Jimmy Flabby defeated Guy Buckles in 13 rounds at Sheridan, Wyo.

1911—Sam Langford and Joe Jeanette fought a 10-round draw at New York.

CHOIR CAME BACK AT TEXAS MINISTER.

Postmaster General Burleson is something of a story teller. Collier's quotes Mr. Burleson as having said:

It looked like a duel between the parson and the choir, and at the end of the ninth inning the score seemed to be in favor of the singers.

It was at the morning service, and the minister, sitting in the pulpit with a dignified expression, listened to the singing of the usual anthem. Then he arose and announced in a loud, clear voice:

"My text will be: 'Now, when the uproar had ceased...'

For a moment the members of the choir looked as if they had been fed on persimmons instead of peaches, and then they got together and, in the softest kind of whispers, began to talk it over. As a result of the subdued conference a slight change was made in the musical program, and the organ pealed forth, the choir sang: "Now it is high time to awake after sleep."

Cash, when their daughter Margaret Winefred, was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Dr. Willoughby Dayton Bishop of Hollansburg by Rev. K. B. Alexander, in the presence of the immediate families and a few near relatives.

Following the ceremony a three course dinner was served. Dr. Bishop and bride left in the afternoon for their future home in Hollansburg. The happy couple was the recipients of many beautiful presents, and have the best wishes of their many friends for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tyler are visiting at the home of their son, T. C. Tyler in Columbus.

Henry Priest, who has been ill for some time, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Virgil Sharp Tuesday. The funeral was held Thursday.

Walter Scott and family of Columbus visited his aunt, Mrs. Thomas Carroll and family the past week.

S. S. Anderson, wife and children, Miss Enid and Harry, left Sunday in their new automobile for Monon, Ind., where they will spend several days with relatives.

Dr. W. D. Bishop of Hollansburg spent a few days with relatives in town.

Mrs. Clarence Hill and son Sheldon spent Tuesday with relatives in Newark.

Mrs. Rhoda Conard and daughter, Miss Marie, visited the past week with friends in Centerburg.

Dr. L. D. Rodgers of Chicago spent a few days the latter part of last week with relatives in town.

Miss Stimmel of Columbus visited her friend, Miss Ollie Parker, the past week.

Miss Louise Smith of Newark was the guest of Miss Helen Prout the past week.

Obituary

FUNERAL OF A. L. KENDALL.
The funeral of A. L. Kendall will take place at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the residence of B. N. Sigler, 592 Hudson avenue, the interment being in Cedar Hill.

A. L. Kendall was born in Newark in 1875 and spent practically all of his life in this city. At the age of 14 he started to work for the Losan Natural Gas company as office boy, and had been connected with that company in various capacities until his death. When he left Newark about four years ago he was superintendent of local lines, but at that time was transferred to Westerville, where he was promoted to general agent and superintendent for several towns in that vicinity, occupying that position at the time of his death.

About 1903 Mr. Kendall and Miss Jessie Sigler of Home were united in marriage, and to that union two children were born, who, with the wife and mother, survive to mourn their great loss.

Besides his immediate family he is survived by his father, three brothers and two sisters.

Mr. Kendall was a member of the Masonic lodge at Westerville, and Newark lodge No. 17, F. & A. M. will have charge of the funeral.

HENRY T. PRIEST.

St. Joe Road, Sept. 5.—Henry T. Priest died at the home of Virgil Sharp Tuesday morning, after a lingering illness of tuberculosis.

He was born in Jersey township in 1856, where he spent his early manhood. He went to Missouri, where he remained about 23 years, returning to Licking county some years ago, where he lived until his death.

The funeral was held at the residence of Mr. Sharp Thursday and interment made in the Tuller cemetery.

J. WILLIAM WEBB.

J. William Webb, aged 62, died at 6 o'clock Thursday evening after lingering unconscious since Saturday when he suffered a third stroke of paralysis. He had been in failing health for nearly a year, his illness dating from a stroke of paralysis last winter.

The funeral service will be held Sunday afternoon in the home of his son, Sylvester Webb, where his death occurred. Rev. Mr. Root, substitute pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran church will officiate and interment will be in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Surviving is the widow, the one son and four daughters, Misses Minnie, Bernice, Elizabeth and Jessie. The latter has made her home with the family of Mrs. Alice Thome, confectioner, 1/2 North Fourth street, for the past nine years.

One sister, Mrs. Ella Martin, of Hagerstown, Md., also survives.

COMMUTERS WANT STEEL CARS SINCE NEW HAVEN WRECK

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Sept. 5.—The car club, made up of wealthy men who commute between New England points and New York, has taken steps toward seeing that it be supplied with steel cars in substitution for the wooden ones which it has been using on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, according to reports published here today. For many years the Car Club has had an arrangement with the New Haven management under which two special cars were provided on morning and evening trains for the exclusive use of members of the club, who are assessed to meet the expenses of the special privileges.

Recent wrecks on the New Haven are said to have prompted the club to take up with the railroad management the question of safety and demand steel cars. At a recent meeting of the club a representative of the railroad is said to have been present to hear the proposition and although opposed to any special move in behalf of the club it was arranged that steel equipment would be provided if the members contributed to the extra expenses, which they voted to do through an increased assessment.

Among the members of the car club are Percy Rockefeller, son of William Rockefeller; Commodore E. C. Benedict, well known yachtsman; John A. Topping, president of the Republic Iron and Steel company and several prominent men who have summer homes in Connecticut.

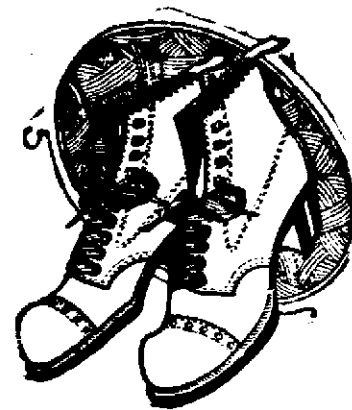

FIREMEN PARADE DURING PERRY CENTENNIAL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 5.—A parade of firemen from New York towns and cities was the principal feature of the fifth day of the Perry Centennial celebration here.

The program of motor boat races along the Niagara River course and airplane flights was curtailed by high winds.

Up to a late hour no effort had been made to raise the motorboats Oregon Kid and Kitten, which went down in the Niagara river during the races yesterday.

Despite the vote of the women, Phoenix, Ariz., will continue to be "wet."

FINAL DRAFT OF SUBWAY PLANS ARE DISCUSSED

Engineers Maetzel & Simpson of Columbus, who drew the plans for the proposed subway from the grade crossing elimination project arrived in Newark shortly after noon Friday and at 3 o'clock they went into session with the subway committee of the city council. Solicitor Jones, Auditor Wulffhoop and representatives of the South Side Citizens Association. The engineers laid before the Newark people the final plans for the proposed improvement. These plans have been approved by engineers for the city and for the two railroads and they are now up to the subway committee of council.

The Columbus engineers went over the plans in detail, explained each feature and gave the estimated cost of the improvement. Tonight the entire council will hold a caucus meeting when the legislative plans for the subway will be outlined. This will be an executive session with only council members and city officials present.

Property. Shortly before noon he was released on $500 bail for a hearing before a magistrate tomorrow morning. Meanwhile the special board of inquiry, sitting to determine where Thaw should be deported, heard two witnesses and reached no decision. The session in secret was still going on at noon and the word went out that the hearing would be continuous until a verdict had been found. The witnesses examined in the forenoon were Thaw himself and Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney general of New York.

Thaw was on the stand less than two minutes. He was asked one question:

"Are you the man who killed Stanford White?"

"On the advice of counsel I decline to answer," said Thaw. He was then excused.

At this point a recess was taken, and later Mr. Kennedy was called. He identified the commitment on which WRIT GRANTED.

(Associated Press Telegram.) Coaticook, Sept. 3.—Telegraphic notice was served on the immigration authorities here today that Judge Gervais of the court of appeals at Montreal had granted a writ of habeas corpus and a restraining order holding up any immediate move looking to the deportation of Harry K. Thaw. The writ itself was being rushed here this afternoon by special train. It calls for Thaw's production in court at Montreal.

Thaw was first sent to Matteawan and the decrees remanding him there after his defeat in various habeas corpus proceedings in New York.

Jerome's arrest grew out of his informal card game played with reporters on a suit case yesterday near the Grand Trunk railway station where Thaw is held in the immigration pen. It sent a thrill through the town, and crowds followed the former district attorney to the jail, some hooting him, some shouting "hooray for Thaw," denoting Jerome.

Thaw's lawyers unanimously denied that they were in any way responsible for Jerome's arrest and Milford Aldrich, the complainant, said he had acted merely as a public spirited citizen. He is a mill hand. He complained to A. C. Hanson, crown prosecutor, that he saw Jerome playing cards and this morning Justice of the Peace James McKee signed the warrant.

Jerome had just stepped from the telephone booth at his hotel when Lieutenant John Andrews, somewhat diffident and uncertain of what would happen told him he was under arrest. Jerome started with surprise, then smiled gravely and was led away to jail.

Hector Verret, of counsel for New York in the Thaw proceedings, rushed to jail, confirmed reports of his associate's predicament, and then went to the office of the justice of the peace and drew up bail bond. Hanson, the prosecutor followed him and told the justice in no uncertain terms that the prisoner could not be admitted to bail at once, but should be held for 24 hours, perhaps 48 hours. The old justice was in a quandary.

"I'll have to look up my law books," he said.

He demanded Jerome's release at once, showed Verret. This is an outrage.

Don't do anything hasty. What authority have you to release this man?

Verret fingered his beard and scratched his head. Finally he decided that he would go to the court house and see what could be done.

Mr. Jerome was brought in and in a few minutes the formalities were arranged. Face to face with him in the city court the crowd said not a word of derision and Mr. Jerome left the building laughing.

Should Thaw be deported suddenly, it will be necessary for Jerome to forfeit his bail. There was disagreement as to the penalty for his alleged offense. Hanson, the prosecutor, insisted that a jail sentence only was provided. Mr. Verret thought that a nominal fine would be more like it. There was a hurried scanning of statute books this afternoon to clear the matter up.

Thaw laughed when he was told of the arrest. "I knew that man would never come to any good end," he said sarcastically.

The special board of inquiry, seeking to determine whether Thaw shall be sent across the border, adjourned with the announcement that at 1 p. m. it would render its decision but that the question of Thaw's sanity had not been officially considered.

Convicted merely of entering the Dominion by stealth, Thaw would have the right of appeal to the minister of the interior. This would insure his remaining here for forty-eight hours more. He also might be deported as an undesirable not necessarily insane. This also could be appealed.

The insanity phase was dropped, it was said, to obviate the necessity of a long drawn out examination by alienists.

(Associated Press Telegram.) Coaticook, Sept. 3.—William Travers Jerome was arrested here today charged with entering Canada.

The complaint was made by Milford Aldridge, a citizen of Coaticook who swore that he had seen Jerome playing poker in public yesterday. Jerome was taken to the jail where Thaw was confined when brought here two weeks ago.

Thaw's lawyers disclaimed any knowledge of the arrest. The belief prevailed that it was due solely to ill-feeling among the townspeople who resented Jerome's presence. Jerome as a specially appointed deputy attorney general of the state of New York is the leader of the anti-Thaw forces here.

Mr. Jerome was taken into custody at his hotel, the Coaticook House, by Policeman John Andrews. He was so surprised he could hardly speak. As a matter of fact he had indulged in a penny ante game yesterday with some newspaper men. They used a suit case for a table and sat in an automobile waiting for the end of the Thaw hearing. News of the arrest of Jerome swept through the town like wildfire. The Thaw hearing had meantime been adjourned. A. N. Hanson, crown prosecutor for Standstead county issued the warrant. He said that Jerome would have a hearing before a magistrate within 24 hours.

Jerome was locked in a small cell and no one was allowed to see him. At 11 o'clock he had not retained counsel. The complainant Aldrich is a mill hand.

A pro-Thaw outburst followed Jerome's arrest. Crowds gathered about the jail shouting "hooray for Thaw; now we'll deport Jerome."

The charge is "common gambling on railway property," the maximum penalty, according to the crown prosecutor is one year's imprisonment with no option of a fine.

Though Jerome can be brought up before a magistrate within 48 hours, it is possible that he may be held in jail until the forty-seventh hour before arraignment, according to the prosecutor. Then he will be remanded to jail in Sherbrooke to await the action of the grand jury of the King's bench in October. However, as soon as he is remanded he can apply to the Superior court for bail. The warrant on which Jerome was arrested was sworn out before James McKee, magistrate.

Jerome was admitted to $500 bail shortly before 12 o'clock. He left the jail smiling.

(Associated Press Telegram.) Coaticook, Que., Sept. 3.—After spending his second night in the immigration pen over the Grand Trunk railroad station here, Harry K. Thaw today faced the ordeal of more questioning by the special board of inquiry sitting to determine whether he shall be deported for violating the Dominion immigration laws.

Thaw's mental condition now, and at the time he shot down Stanford White in the Madison Square roof garden, but lightly touched upon yesterday, was taken up again with the resumption of the hearing this morning.

The non-appearance of any member of Thaw's family, barring the flying trip of Mr. and Mrs. George Carnegie, to Sherbrooke, has puzzled the lawyers for both sides, one of the Thaw lawyers today expressed the belief that the Thaws did not want to see Harry here.

The general opinion here this morning was that the inquiry would be concluded today. The New York officials who are determined to see Thaw back in Matteawan are growing impatient. They have been sleeping two and in Coaticook's overtaxed hotels.

William Travers Jerome, especially deputized to land the fugitive back in the asylum spent the morning near the hearing room, his automobile primed for a race to the Vermont border whenever word should come that deportation had been decreed. Thaw has been perhaps the least disturbed person of all. He was shocked and stunned when the habeas corpus writ was sustained but the immigration board's grilling here was so much like the court battles of old, that Thaw was untroubled except when asked about his mother.

Mrs. Thaw had not arrived here today and in the absence of any other information it was assumed that her health could not permit the trip. Thaw's response to his repeated appeals by telephone.

Crowds again came to look up at Thaw's barred windows today. They were not large crowds, rather groups of curious who slouched against box cars and swapped theories on what was going to happen.
